Gillian Crampton Smith

artists and designers have an important role to play in creating information technologies